Haringey Advertiser despite the strike

NINE journalists of this newspaper who are members of the National Union of Journalists are currently on strike so this edition has been produced by the remainder of the staff and management.

The dispute is about the paper's non-replacement of staff leaving by natural wastage in this recession and despite the company making huge and unsustainable losses

This independent group is the only UK newspaper group to have decided right from the beginning of the downturn not to make any journalists redundant for as long as possible.

That meant non-replacement of those who left voluntarily.

Thousands of newspapermen have lost their jobs but none from this paper nor group.

We hope this edition is both local and acceptable to you, our readers.

PARENTS and carers in Haringey are being asked whether they would be interested in sending their child to a free primary school set up and run by the Constable Educational Trust (CET).

The move comes following widespread reports of a London-wide shortage of primary places.

CET is looking for a suitable site in the capital to open a brand new, state-funded primary Free School and says Haringey has a huge demand for additional primary places. Parents are being asked to sign up and show an interest in a CET primary school opening here in September 2012.

The new school will be mainstream and will support high academic attainment and progress. However, CET promises the school would also ensure that there was early identification and intervention where children showed problems with language or literacy.

Children would be taught the National Curriculum as well as Modern Foreign Languages, Latin, a range of sports, ICT and creative subjects.

CET has 17 years of experience in setting up and running an independent school in South West London. Board member Ronda Fogel has personal experience of setting up The Moat School in Fulham, for children with dyslexia and other special educational needs at which 70 per cent of the pupils are state funded.

Parents with children who will be aged four between September 1 2011 and August 31, 2012 are being asked to visit the CET website www.cetrust.net to register interest.

Registering interest does not in any way mean that parents have signed up for a new school.

Chairman of the CET, Richard Simmons said; "I would really encourage anyone who has a child who will be aged four between September and August next year, and who is interested in increasing the options for their child, to register.

"We are convinced that we can use that experience to enhance the educational choices on offer in Haringey."

Party marks the end of Postman Bob's 30 years

A POSTMAN who has worked in Fortis Green for more than 30 years has had his dedication recognised by residents.

Hornsey and Wood Green MP Lynne Featherstone joined Fortis Green residents at a street party for Robert Konig, known to everyone as Postman Bob.

Ms Featherstone agreed to go along after she was contacted by Southern Road resident Deborah Langdon-Davies.

She told the MP that she and many of the people in the area wanted to do something special for this much-loved man.

Bob has just been nominated for a Royal Mail Chairman's award, The Liberal Democrat MP and neighbours on Southern Road decided to say their own thanks and presented him with flowers and chocolates to show how his hard work has been appreciated.

Lynne Featherstone MP said: "I was really touched to hear of postman Bob, his amazing work, and how much he is loved and appreciated by local residents.

"It's easy to take good people for granted, so on this occasion, we wanted to do something special to say thanks, hence a small party with a big thank you for a job tremendously well done."

Resident Ms Langdon-Davies, who was one of the organisers, said: "Bob always goes the extra mile, doing his utmost to make sure our post is delivered safely each day.

"It's not rare for him to back-track to deliver a parcel if he recognises us coming back in our cars, or leaving parcels with neighbours he knows we can trust.

"It's just so refreshing to see someone who takes real pride in his job, and he is definitely up there with the best!

"As he's retiring in the summer, after more than 30 years of delivering the post on our street, we wanted to say a huge thank you.

"He will be sorely missed but I am truly grateful for having had the world's best postman for the ten years I've been here."

Councillor's warning over Hornsey depot

HORNSEY councillor Robert Gorrie has written to the Secretary of State for Transport Philip Hammond demanding plans for a train maintenance facility at Hornsey Station are reviewed carefully.

Will you help inspire Woodside High pupils?

FORMER pupils of Woodside High School are being asked to take part in a new project to help existing students.

The school is working with Future First, to build a network of former Woodside students to support current students and recent graduates of the school as they make decisions about their futures.

Former students will be profiled on a website that Future First is building for Woodside High School. They can also take part in assemblies and workshops at the college to share their experiences of the world of work.

Future First is looking to recruit former Woodside students from a whole range of jobs – from dancers to surgeons, builders to architects – so there are role models to inspire all pupils and to celebrate the incredible diversity of success at Woodside High School. On board so far they have a barrister, broadcaster, teacher and a youth worker.

If you'd like to get involved, contact Nick on 020 7812 0540 or info@futurefirst.org.uk

He wrote: "Whilst I understand the need to upgrade public transport and that the new proposals put forward by Network Rail have reduced the overall footprint...local residents still have major reservations and concerns that I believe have failed to be addressed."

He concluded: "I believe that this development need further work to ensure it is suitable for the area."

Pearl and Dmitrijs join Rhythm of London this week

TWO musicians from Haringey are among 50 youngsters chosen to take part in this year's Rhythm of London.

Mayor of London Boris Johnson is giving young musicians the opportunity to showcase their musical skills and bid for success in the music industry.

Rhythm of London puts the spotlight on young musical talent and is part of the Mayor's efforts to increase music education and participation across the capital.

Pearl Amoateng (Pearl & Marie), 25, and Dmitrijs Lisenko (Karmafree), 24, from Haringey were among 50 young singers and musicians, who pitched up on Saturday for Rhythm of London Busking Underground.

It marked the start of a week of musical activity for young Londoners. They performed live to travellers and passers by at seven London Underground busking sites, as well as at the British Music Experience at the O2.

They are all competing for the coveted and lucrative prize of a year's licence to busk on the London Underground, plus other prizes including a course at the Academy of Contemporary Music, studio time, and a unique London-Paris link up with Eurostar.

To see video of the performances www.london.gov.uk/rhythmoflondon and from May 9, for one month, vote for your favourite.

Performers will also be judged by an expert panel, including Newton Faulkner. The top 10, plus a Londoners' favourite voted for by the public, will perform live in an X-factor-style 'busk off' in July.

Mayor Boris Johnson said: "Rhythm of London shows that our city is alive with the sound of music.

"Whether you want to be a rock star or are a classical prodigy, are electrified or acoustic, Rhythm of London is a brilliant showcase for young musicians from across the capital and might just uncover the next big thing."

Rhythm of London week culminates on Saturday with the St George's Day Concert in Trafalgar Square.

It will feature previous Busking Underground winners, including Jamie West, whose new EP Walking In The Movies is released this week, and other young musicians from across the capital.

They will be appearing alongside headliner opera tenor, West End star and Top 10 recording artist Alfie Boe, Newton Faulkner, and the youngest band to play Glastonbury, the upcoming The Theory of 6 Degrees.

The free event will also feature stage and TV stars staging a celebration of musical theatre, and space.

Busking offers young musicians the opportunity to show off their talents this week as part of the Rhythm of London which finishes with a concert in Trafalgar Square

New book to commemorate the first 50 years of Alexandra Park's library

A SPECIAL book to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the opening of Alexandra Park Library has been published.

The book - 50 Years of Memories - has been written by Angela Arney, the chair of FAPL (the friends group at the library).

Angela has edited a collection of over 40 memories from people who have used the library over the last 50 years and includes photographs of the library over the years.

There are over 40 memories, a short history and a chronology of the library as well as photos and drawings by children.

Angela said: "I started work on the book two years ago.

"Among the memories are a man in his 80s who remembers the area where the library now is, being used for Dig For Britain during the war, right through to someone who has only just moved to the area nine months ago.

"There is one account from a lady who told me that five generations of her family have used this library.

"I've tried to get memories from each era over the last 50 years, including from 1990 when the library was under threat of closure. An action group was set up to keep it open.

"The library is part of the community and is one of the things that make the area so special."

Authors Jonny Zucker, Stephen Games, Freya North and Marc Alexander have also contributed to the book.

The library has regular events for local residents, including literary and music events and hosts the Tagore Centre.

The book - costing £7 - was launched on April 14 at a meeting of the Friends of Alexandra Park Library. The friends group provided the funding for the book.

Making your vote count on May 5

POLLING stations across Haringey will open from 7am to 10pm for the elections on May 5, to allow registered voters to have their say on the voting system referendum.

The referendum asks for either a "yes" or "no" vote to the question: "At present, the UK uses the 'first past the post' system to elect MPs to the House of Commons. Should the 'alternative vote' system be used instead?"

It is now too late for postal votes but proxy vote applications can still be accepted up until 5pm tomorrow.

Applications must be sent to the officer at the Civic Centre, High Road, Wood Green, London, N22 8LE.

'It's propaganda,' say Lib-Dem councillors District Auditor asked to investigate council's magazine

LIBERAL Democrats have, this week, asked the District Auditor to investigate Haringey Labour Council's use of taxpayers' money on what they say is propaganda published in its Haringey People magazine.

They are also asking the leaflets distributed to all homes in the borough to be investigated.

Cllr Tichard Wilson has asked for an investigation on two counts: one, that some information is factually incorrect and is "designed to exaggerate and alarm the public" and second, that "the Labour council is abusing taxpayer funded publications to pedal political points".

In his letter to the Audit Commission, Cllr Wilson says council publicity "breaches the line between balanced information for local residents and political propaganda paid for by local taxpayers."

Liberal Democrats have continued to challenge the Labour administration on its use of taxpayers' money to finance its politically driven messages.

Cllr Wilson continues to say that much of the publicity sent by the Council also sought to inflate the financial problem and he cites an instance in December 2010 when the Council's Haringey People magazine quotes the Leader of the Council saying that the Council were "anticipating losing in the region of £60million..." compared to the £27million actual reduction in government funding.

Cllr Richard Wilson, Liberal Democrat Deputy

Leader, said: "Labour has continued to use council resources to pedal their politically motivated views. Every edition of Haringey People is like tuning into Libyan State TV rather than a balanced and informative view of the situation the Council is in."

"We have challenged the council to moderate its approach on publicity but this has gone on too long and now we have formally asked for the District Auditor to investigate."

"Taxpayers should not have to pay for propaganda and Labour should end its obsession with spin and censorship."

Court orders man to stay away from care home

A Tottenham man has been barred from approaching a sheltered home.

Howard Facey intimidated, verbally abused and swore at elderly residents at Clements House, Edmondson County Court heard.

Facey, of Twyford House, N15, was excluded from Siddons Road, N17 and from Clements House by a judge and he will be arrested if breached.

The court order followed action by Haringey Council's ASBAT team and lawyers.

competitive tenders.

Coolhurst is over a hundred years old and has nearly a thousand members. This grant is one of several won recently in the club's bid to increase and upgrade facilities for local schools and residents.

Two years ago, in partnership with St Aloysius College and other Islington schools, the club built three new tennis courts with the aid of grants from the Lawn Tennis Association and Islington Council. There are now fourteen well used tennis courts, plus four squash courts.

John Hayward, the project manager for the gym said: "Cybex will help our personal trainers to make the best use of the equipment. The equipment can help to rehabilitate our players injuries and keep them fit.

Luke Berry, area manager for Cybex, said: "Professional tennis and squash players use gyms to increase fitness. Our equipment can help the club members to improve power, strength and stamina and to help avoid injuries. We have the same equipment at Queens Tennis Club."

Club chair, Penny Chalmers, said: "This grant from the national body represents a huge vote of confidence in our club. With it we can build a first class gym and keep our users even fitter!"

A GROWING Crouch End tennis and squash club has won £25,000 to spend on new gym and table tennis facilities.

Sport England, which invests Lottery and government money in projects that boost grass roots sport, awarded the money to the Coolhurst Tennis and Squash Club in recognition of their service to the community.

The club hopes to extend membership of the new gym to other sports clubs in the area.

The club in Coolhurst Road, which is owned by its members, raised another £25,000 for the gym and has awarded Cybex the contract to spend up to £50,000 on the latest quality equipment. Cybex is an international supplier of fitness equipment and was chosen from four

Adult Brits Still Bank on Pocket Money

National Lottery Scratchcards Reveal Grown Ups Still Raid Piggy Bank

Growing up, your weekly pocket money used to be something you really looked forward to. You could spend it however you pleased – on comics, sweets, or save up a few weeks worth and buy yourself an extra special treat. It seems that as we get older, things don't change, as adults across the UK admit they still give themselves cash to buy a little something 'just for me'. Research from National Lottery Scratchcards has found out that over half of us save up our pennies or shrapnel in a dish to give ourselves grown up 'spending money' every month.

The fun research looked at how people have a break from their busy lives and put some play back in their day and found that if we gave ourselves £5 for treats, we would spend it on a chocolate bar or sweets (24%) followed by a magazine (19%) – just the same as when we were growing up. One in six of us would buy a 'luxury item', such as a coffee from a deli, with the same number trying their luck on a National Lottery Scratchcard or Instant Win Game to indulge in a moment of fun. Almost one third of us would prefer not to touch it and would rather watch the money pile grow, preferring to wait until we had enough to put it towards buying something bigger.

One in three of us said that we could accumulate up to £5 a month in change, with 19% reckoning it was closer to £10. And although 68% of us say it is important to have small treats regularly because it gives us something to look forward to, the real reason why we have piles of change is because some of us just don't want to carry it round in pockets! A National Lottery Scratchcards spokesperson said: "It seems like the tradition of giving ourselves a bit of pocket money to enjoy a moment of fun is still important in our adult life. These non-essential items just give us a bit of a boost to get through the month and don't cost the earth. With four winners every second on National Lottery Scratchcards*, having a bit of fun can also be rewarding too."

The new Bingo Scratchcard from The National Lottery costs £3 and you can win up to £300,000! There are four games on each card and the odds of winning a prize are approximately 1 in 3.92. So why not put some play in your day and grab a bit of Bingo action from National Lottery Scratchcards.

schools in picture

□ Eleven-year-old Storm Ranger, who won the individual prize for photography for her dramatic image at Heartlands High School.

□ Dawid Lubkowskii, 11, who won the best narrative award after using two photographs to demonstrate his intriguing view of Heartlands.

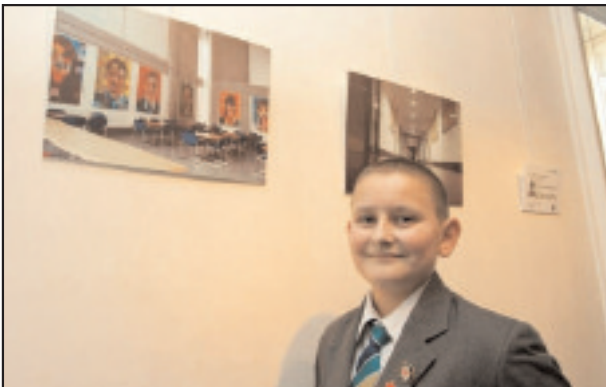

□ Northumberland Park Community School, Tottenham, who won the prize for submitting the most entries to the competition.

All the winning images received photography equipment, presented by Cllr Lorna Reith, Cabinet member for children and young people.

Cllr Reith said: "The quality of photography is very impressive and the images produced by our young, up-and-coming photographers wouldn't look out of place alongside the work of professionals."

"The exhibition is a great way of capturing and showcasing the breadth of change in teaching and learning in our secondary schools."

The competition was supported by Mace; programme and project management experts working with Haringey Building Schools for the Future, RM Education; Haringey's ICT provider, Apollo Education; Balfour Beatty Construction; and photographer David Tothill

Lib Dem call for rethink on libraries closure plan

LIBERAL Democrats have expressed concern at a consultation on plans to shut Haringey libraries on Sundays and say that it indicates a U-turn by Labour, who had predicted there would be no closures.

Haringey Council is proposing to close Hornsey, Marcus Garvey and Alexandra Park libraries on Sundays despite assurances from the town hall that it was "looking to expand the role that libraries play in the community" and the leader of the council expressing a commitment "to see libraries expand their roles".

Lib Dems are demanding that the consultation period, which ended last week, is extended.

Cllr Gail Engert, Lib Dem communities spokeswoman, said: "Labour are clearly going back on their word. They said no library closures to residents and now three of our best-loved libraries face closure on Sundays."

"I am disappointed that the council tried to hoodwink the public into thinking that these valuable resources would not be touched by their cuts. Now we see the true picture."

"We have demanded that, for local people to have their say, the consultation must be extended."

STAGE SET FOR CRUNCH DERBY

By Dominique Stafford

BENOIT ASSOUE-EKOTTO has set his sights on completing a rare league double over Arsenal as Tottenham Hotspur prepare to welcome their fierce north London rivals to White Hart Lane tonight (7.45pm).

Having staged an astonishing fight-back to overturn a 2-0 deficit and win 3-2 at the Emirates in November, Spurs – who exited the Champions League last week – will be looking to claim another victory which would see them move level on points with fourth-placed Manchester City and boost their hopes of reaching the Champions League again.

“It will be massive game,” said left-back Assou-Ekotto. “When you see what we did at Arsenal we know we can do the same at home.

“We will have our supporters behind us, and we believe we can beat any team at White Hart Lane.

“We can get in the top four. City lost against Liverpool last time, and teams will have problems at this stage of the season. Anything is possible.”

Meanwhile, Spurs ace Gareth Bale has been rewarded for his terrific season by being voted the Professional Footballers’ Association Player of the Year.

The 21-year-old was chosen by his fellow players on Sunday after a string of excellent displays – particularly in the Champions League – and revealed his pride at the award.

“I am more than delighted really,” he said. “It’s a massive award, and it’s a great honour to receive it, especially from fellow professionals.

“It’s an honour when you look at the names who have won it before, and it just makes you go wow really.

“There haven’t been too many Welshman to have won the trophy, but it is great for me personally.

“It’s not just for me, it is for all my team-mates who have helped me through the season.”

Bale added: “Playing in a good team with good players definitely helped me a lot, and the boys have been fantastic. The manager has been fantastic, giving me a chance.”

Bring on the Arsenal: Benoit Assou-Ekotto is relishing tonight's game

Sorry first-half display is costly for the Skolars

THE London Skolars were made to pay the price for a poor first-half performance as they slumped to a 52-26 defeat at Oldham in rugby league's Co-Operative Championship One on Saturday.

The Skolars had picked up their first point of the season against table-topping Swinton in their previous outing, but their hopes of getting anything out of this match were effectively over by the time that they had conceded 42 points prior to the interval.

There was actually little to choose between the sides during a first 20 minutes which ended with the Skolars only trailing 10-8 – with Dave Arnot and Ade Adebisi crossing the line for the visitors.

However, Oldham suddenly sprung to life in an incredible 17-minute blitz which saw them score 32 unanswered points to take complete control of the match.

It looked as if the rout would continue when the hosts claimed their ninth try of the contest within moments of the restart, but the Skolars went on to restore considerable pride with an excellent second-half display which saw them score three further tries through Cariern Clement-Pascal (two) and Dylan Skee. Jack Latus added three goals.

A busy weekend of action sees the Skolars going to South Wales Scorpions on Friday, before hosting Gateshead Thunder on Monday (2pm).
